ROY WAKELIN-KING APPOINTED NEW CEO OF REDFERN-WATERLOO AUTHORITY

The Minister for Redfern Waterloo, Kristina Keneally, today announced the appointment of Mr Roy Wakelin-King as the new CEO of the Redfern-Waterloo Authority.

Mr Wakelin-King will take the role from 16 February 2009, following the resignation of Robert Domm in November 2008. Mr Domm has continued as CEO of the Sydney Harbour Foreshore Authority.

“Mr Wakelin-King has extensive experience across Government, having worked on the Olympics, World Youth Day and more recently at the Department of Commerce,” Ms Keneally said.

“Roy has proven he has the capacity and skills to forward plan and then deliver. These are valuable skills which he will bring with him to the Redfern-Waterloo Authority.

“I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr Domm for his service to the Redfern-Waterloo Authority and his continued work with at the Sydney Harbour Foreshore Authority.”
