Statement given to the Sydney Morning Herald regarding the Land and Environment Court judgement on Huntlee

Statement given on 7 July 2011

The Department will review the judgement in its entirety and consider all relevant implications and options before providing advice to the Minister.

It should be remembered that the appeal brought before the court was based on a procedural technicality. Neither the merits of the rezoning proposal nor the Department’s assessment of those merits have been brought into question or ruled against.
