

Letter to the editor of the Lakes Times

Your article about the parking situation at the Lake Illawarra police headquarters at Oak Flats requires immediate clarification ('Parking woes continue at Oak Flats station', Lakes Times, 23/6).

The NSW Department of Planning did not play any role in the assessment or determination of the development application for the police station. Nor was the Department involved in amending the number of car parking spaces, as the article claims.

The Department has discussed this with Shellharbour City Council and confirmed this to be the case.
