Have your say on proposed Banksmeadow waste facility

An application for a new waste transfer facility in Banksmeadow is now on exhibition, NSW Planning and Infrastructure (P&I) said today.

P&I Executive Director Chris Wilson said the community is encouraged to have their say on the development proposal.

“Planning and Infrastructure is committed to community consultation and we’re now seeking public feedback on this proposed facility,” Mr Wilson said.

“It’s a significant development that would create a transfer terminal for waste and direct it via rail and road to other treatment and recycling facilities like Woodlawn Eco Precinct.”

The development would involve the demolition of existing buildings and infrastructure followed by the construction of a new waste terminal building, rail sidings and a new access road.

The application and development proposal for the Banksmeadow Waste Transfer Terminal will be on exhibition from the 17 April to 28 May 2014.

Any specific questions regarding the details of the development should be directed to the applicant.

Visit the Planning and Infrastructure website or a range of local venues during regular business hours to view all application documents.
