Have your say on a new sandstone quarry in Hollydeen

A proposal to establish the Dolwendee Quarry at Hollydeen, approximately seven kilometres northwest of Denman will be on exhibition from today for community feedback.

The Department of Planning and Environment is keen to hear the community’s views on the proposal which seeks to:

- construct a new sandstone and conglomerate quarry, which would extract up to 250,000 tonnes of material per year from a total of approximately 5.3 million tonnes over a period of 21 years
- operate between the hours of 7am to 6pm Monday to Friday and 8am to 1pm on Saturday
- blast up to a maximum of 12 times per year
- construct facilities on site including:
  - crushing and screening plant
  - an office
  - a workshop
  - amenities and car parking
- construct a road from the quarry to the Golden Highway, including a new intersection
- dispatch up to 30 loaded trucks per day.

A spokesperson for the Department of Planning and Environment said the local community always has an opportunity to share their views.

“Community consultation is an integral part of the planning process and the applicant will have to respond to the feedback we receive and this is taken into consideration when we develop our recommendations,” the spokesperson said.

“It’s easy to participate by going online and we encourage everyone to take a look and have their say.”
