Exhibition extended for M4 East upgrade

The public exhibition of the Environment Impact Statement for the upgrade of the M4 East will be extended by another ten days until Monday, 2 November.

This extra 10 days takes the total exhibition time to 55 days, almost doubling the exhibition time required by legislation.

A document printing error meant the Department of Planning and Environment was not provided with complete appendices to the Environmental Impact Statement.

These appendices will provide additional technical information regarding flooding and urban design.

The WestConnex Delivery Authority alerted the Department after they became aware of the omission and provided the full appendices yesterday (17 September).

A spokesperson for the Department said the additional documents were now available on the Department’s website.

“While the appendices are of a technical nature, the exhibition time has been extended by the length of time the incomplete documents had been on display,” the spokesperson said.
