Purpose of document

The Department of Planning, Housing and Infrastructure is introducing a suite of reforms to deliver a better planning system for NSW. As part of these reforms, we are introducing a standard form for development consents and optional best-practice conditions that consent authorities can adopt for certain types of development.

This document provides a set of standard conditions for farm gate premises, farm experience premises and farm stay accommodation for use by consent authorities when issuing determinations.

Other standard conditions for residential development, mixed use, change of use, food and drink premises, demolition, and biodiversity credits can also be used where appropriate.

These conditions do not cover every issue that may require a condition of consent. Council may need to develop additional bespoke conditions for certain development applications. Further guidance on preparing conditions of consent can be found on the department's website.

Some forms of agritourism may be integrated development; for example, farm stay accommodation on bushfire prone land. Integrated development requires approval under both the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (the Act) and another NSW Act listed under section 4.46 of the Act.

Farm stay accommodation may require a Bush Fire Safety Authority (BFSA) under Section 100B of the Rural Fires Act 1997 (RF Act) from the NSW Rural Fire Service (RFS). Councils need to refer to the General Terms of Approval from referral agencies when preparing conditions of consent for integrated development.
